

Hello, my name is Michael and I'm a UI/UX designer and developer from Buffalo, New York. I have two years of corporate experience designing and developing for a wide range of clients that include medical, legal, and nonprofit organizations. My main goal is to push limits and provide sleek, cutting-edge interfaces that enhance usability. When working on a project I'm always cognizant of how a site should responsively handle the many devices now used to view websites.

Work and Education
